

Beef, Veal and Lamb Report

Beef production last week rose .4% and was 5.5% larger than the same week last year. Near term cattle supplies are growing, and overall cattle numbers are projected to rise further this spring as reflected by the big discounts in the April and June cattle futures markets. The February 1st cattle on feed inventory was 7.9% bigger than last year, while cattle placements into feedlots during January were up 4.4% from 2017. The average placement weight was 5.7 pounds heavier than a year ago. January retail ground beef prices were up 2.5% from last year. This factor, and strong beef output, may temper this year's seasonal price gain for wholesale ground beef which happens during March.
